None of our Customers isn't the first in our mind and in our daily work. We love our work, hence we love our Customers: this is the ANCCP Certification Agency behaviour of every hour of our work since our birth in 1993.

So, when you stay in a hotel, maybe our Customers made its domestic, and maybe its blankets are washed, dried, folded by machines of our Customers; maybe the soap and the cleaning products are made by some of our Customers; when you go up and down through the floors, maybe you are using a lift device made by one of our customers or we checked that installation; when you sit to get your break-fast or your dinner, maybe your wood chair is made by someone of our Customers using the wood machinery made by someone else of our Customers, and the food you enjoy comes from certified productions of our Customers and maybe it's stored, worked and cooked by machines of our Customers; maybe the electric power supply and the gas energy to do all this is provided by our Customers through pipes and the pressure vessels are made by other Customers of ours. When you see your hotel you could even think that its copper pipes and its steel beams and plates comes from someone else of our Customers; if you see someone cleaning the windows staying outside of the hotel far from ground, maybe they are doing it in a safe way using a vehicle servicing lift and a fall protection equipment made by some of our Customers; maybe the hotel staff was so kind and efficient because they are using a managing system certified by us; maybe the safety manager that care your safety steps to the parking are certified by us and he is using a remote video control made by one of our Customers.
